

Looking after your mental health and wellbeing during Coronavirus

Information for Adults

Coronavirus (COVID-19) is impacting all our lives and social distancing and self-isolation can be really hard to deal with. It's normal to feel anxious, frustrated or bored, and if you're worried about the effect it will have on your mental health, you are not alone. The following organisations are delivering services that can help you to look after your mental health and well-being during this time.

Already working with a service?

Most organisations have made changes in the way in which services are delivered to ensure that you can still access support when you need it. If you are currently receiving support from a service or have been recently discharged, you can contact the service if you are struggling with your mental health. Most have a duty line and a website where you can find out how to continue accessing services.

If you are already using HPFT services and need help, please contact:

Your care co-ordinator on the number provided to you or if you need help in the evening, weekend or bank holiday call our Out of Hours Helpline Tel: 01438 843322
